

Yves Choueifaty - CEO, TOBAM North America

Christophe Roehri is CEO for TOBAM North America and Deputy CEO for TOBAM Group, responsible globally for investor relations. Mr Roehri, who has 25 years of experience in the financial services and investment management industry, joined TOBAM in 2009 and led the development of the company from $400m AUM to $10B (December 2021), introducing TOBAM's Maximum Diversification approach to leading institutional investors and distribution partners globally.

As a chair of TOBAM's sustainability committee, Christophe is also active in the integration of sustainable, climate-aware guidelines in TOBAM's portfolios. Since 2017, Mr Roehri has been involved in the development of digital assets strategies, most recently in Decentralized Finance.

Prior to his European-based asset management roles at ABN Amro and Amundi, Christophe held various positions for Credit Lyonnais, both in the USA, developing the bank's corporate banking activities from New York, and in Asia, where he was involved in corporate finance and leveraged loans. Mr. Roehri graduated in 1997 from EM Lyon Business School, with a major in Finance.

Michael Kovrig - Senior Adviser, Asia for the International Crisis Group

Michael Kovrig is Senior Adviser, Asia for the International Crisis Group and Director of Kovrig Group, a geopolitical research and advisory firm.

At Crisis Group his role involves research, analysis and advocacy on China and the Asia-Pacific. In recent years his work has examined international relations and security policy among China, the US, EU, Japan, North Korea, Southeast Asia, and Russia. He is currently conducting research on Chinese internal politics, security and law, strategic and technological competition between China and the West, and Indo-Pacific geopolitics and the Pacific Islands.

Michael is a former Canadian diplomat who previously served for more than a decade in China, at the United Nations and at Canada's foreign ministry in Ottawa. His prior experience includes work in strategic communication for the UN Development Group, journalism in Central and Eastern Europe, and research on China. He has a master's degree in international affairs from Columbia University and is fluent in French and Mandarin Chinese. Michael lived in China from 2014-2021 and is now based in Europe.

More can be found at www.linkedin.com/in/kovrig and <https://www.crisisgroup.org/who-we-are/people/michael-kovrig>